With homecare leipzig, the whole field of home and community care will have the support of a specialist exhibition and congress for the first time in Germany.

Homecare leipzig offers a unique national meeting place for the sector, which brings together all the care providers in the network of integrated patient care in Germany, including, in particular, home-care provision and non-residential community-based intensive care providers and their network partners.

The specialist congress offers a complete range of further professional training in all relevant therapeutic areas for specialist staff in non-residential and residential institutions.

The focus in the management congress will be on questions and issues regarding integrated, cross-sector patient care, strategies and networks, technical possibilities in the home environment as well as matters of health-care policy.

The congress advisory committee for homecare leipzig, which includes representatives from all important professional associations is guarantor of the high quality of the content of the congress programme.

In the accompanying exhibition in the Congress Center Leipzig (CCL), there will be displays by product suppliers, service providers and professional associations.
